User story

Meet Bob a 12-year-old who can't find any books at the library that interested him, so he didn't read.

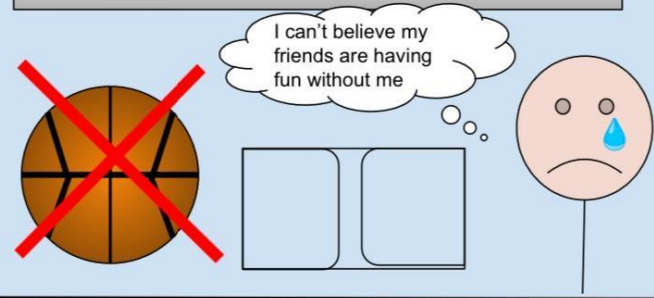

Since he didn't read that much he started to fail english.

English: F
He needs to read more!
-Ms.S

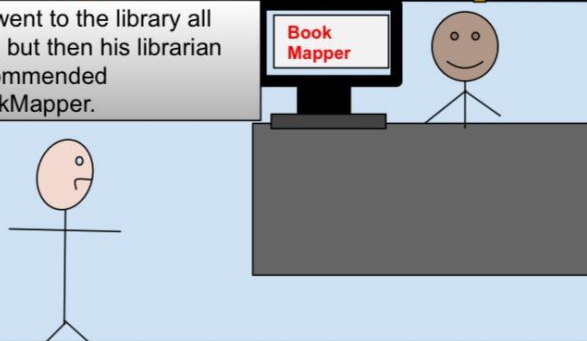

Because he failed english he had to take extra classes after school.

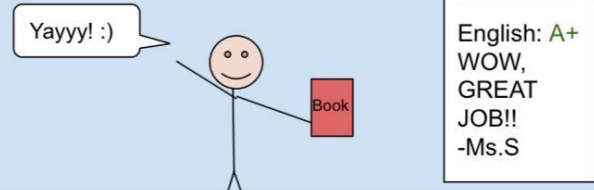

Missed a big basketball game because of those said classes.

He went to the library all sad, but then his librarian recommended BookMapper.

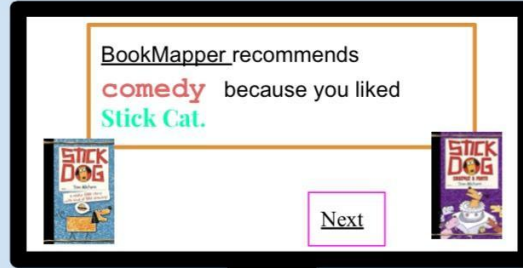

Since he started reading again, his English grades went up and he got control of his time. Best of all, he enjoyed reading again!

User story pt.2

Book Mapper showed Bob what genre of books he might like

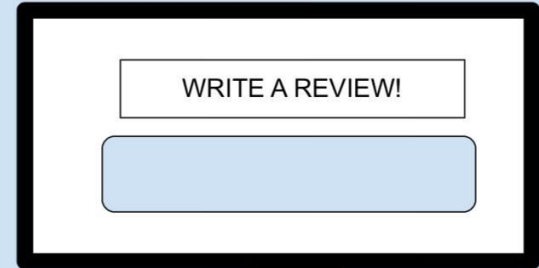

Book Mapper also showed what libraries are near him so he could go and get the book that he wants.

After than, it also shows him some more books that he might enjoy.

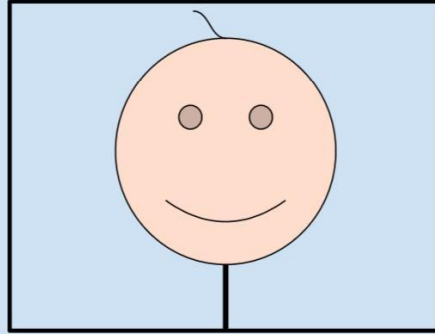

Lastly, BookMapper asks for feedback so they can improve their website!

BookMapper is a non-profit created by us six students. We found that there was an issue with categorization of books in library websites. We found that there was this broad children's section, for ages 12 and under, and the teen and adult sections. We, as tweens (particularly 12 and 13 year olds), felt stuck in between kids and teens. That is why we created BookMapper, a new and improved way to categorize books by age and genre and find books that you enjoy. From all of us, we hope that this improves your reading experience!

App layout prototype results

I like the layout of A but the UI of B is clearer - fonts - suggestion page is clearer on A but retailer page is clearer on B

I preferred the font in Prototype B more than the font in Prototype A.

I think the font used in prototype B looks better.

The font of Prototype B is much easier to read.

App layout prototype feedback

Maybe try different colour backgrounds because to some people white would be a boring background colour.

1 response

The only problem is the font, I liked it, but for someone like me who probably needs glasses (just haven't gotten them yet), it was slightly hard to read some of the stuff on the prototype thing. Other than that, it's looking really good!

1 response

I would suggest making the site a little more colourful and flow better (at the moment it's a bit confusing to navigate). Also, is a PC version in the works?

1 response

Both prototypes look great.

1 response

Well, honestly, after looking at these prototypes, this might end up being the most productive and favourite project of the bunch. You get a 10/10 from me.

1 response

make the font bigger and maybe add a dark mode

Well, here we are. Together, our group has worked on BookMapper for 2 whole cycles. Now, our work will be going into the commons for other students to possibly continue in the future. We are proud of all that we have accomplished this year, and BookMapper was a very interesting project. Thank you to everyone who gave us feedback, participated in our surveys, or helped us in any way, really. This has been the BookMappers, and we hope you enjoyed the presentation! See ya!
